$68,000 revaluation contract approved

The Bethel Board of Selectmen Monday night approved a contract with Parker Appraisal Co., of No. Windham, for revaluing the property in the town. The contract price is $68,000, which funding was already appropriated by Town Meeting—$25,000 in current taxation and $43,000 in a loan.

The vote on awarding the contract to Parker Appraisal Co. was 4-1, with Selectman Pat Doon objecting to the fact that the company was opposed to having local officials accompany company personnel as they visited the various properties in town to make their measurements. The company president, in early discussions, had given the board the impression that local officials would be permitted to go around to watch the measurements. (The contract does give local officials the right to accompany company officials on the final double-checking of surveyed properties, however.)

A number of the selectmen were upset by what they considered a high-handed attitude on the part of the company president. As Chairman Arlan Jodrey put it, "He doesn't have a good attitude. We're offering a contract—let him take it or leave it."

MARGUERITE GRAHAM (second from left) stands with the peasant family that hosted her in the village of San Juan de Rio Coco, in northwest Nicaragua.

Local Witnesses for Peace return from Central America

Marguerite Graham and Brandon Bass, the Bethel residents who spent 2½ weeks in Central America earlier this month, are now back in Bethel—and thankful for that. But also thankful that they had the chance to see what the U.S. government is doing to change the face of Central America.

What they saw, they said, was that Honduras was being used as an armed camp and Nicaragua was being turned into a beleaguered country, with shortages of everything.

"Managua [the capital of Nicaragua] is a mess," said Mrs. Graham, noting that American-made cars like the junked ones she saw in the streets of the roadsides, unrepairable for lack of spare parts since the U.S. government cut off trade.

Nevertheless, the travelers felt safer walking the streets of Managua and the roads of Nicaraguan villages than they did in the wealthier capital of Honduras—Tegucigalpa. "I didn't get a good feeling walking around the streets of Tegucigalpa," said Mrs. Graham. What turned her off, she said, were the large numbers of police and soldiers walking around with submachineguns.

It also bothered her that members of their Witness for Peace group—who were part of a 20-person delegation mostly made up of Mainers—were stopped by authorities on the streets of Tegucigalpa and made to produce their passports. That contrasted with their reception by the Nicaraguans.

"They just love Americans," Mrs. Graham said. "We were out in a booney and people came out to see us, to teach us."

Rev. Bass concurred with Mrs. Graham's assessment of the differences between the two countries. "We felt very safe walking around Managua," he said. So paranoid was the group in Honduras

West Paris voters give land to abutters

It required just 10 minutes for about 30 West Paris voters at Tuesday night's special town meeting to decide to give a sliver of town property to five abutting landowners.

The land came to the town as the result of the state, years ago, moving Rte. 26 downhill to its present location at Trap Corner. The land will be given to landowners Louis Wolfe, Robert Coriveau, Rita Hammond, William Labonte and Phil Hyam.

The matter was brought to special town meeting by Mr. Hyam, who wants to sell his property to Lloyd Poland, who would like to build a truck garage on the site. But Mr. Poland would not want the town to have a right-of-way through his property. Thus, the matter was put before the voters.

The meeting was held at the fire station; Vernon Inman was elected moderator.

Opinions

There's gold in them thar hills

Never let it be said that the rural communities around Bethel are poor. There may be some poverty—as there is anywhere in the U.S. But there is also a broad spectrum of the population that has done well in the hills of western Maine.

Note that a few thousand depositors of the Bethel Savings Bank were able to come up with $6.2 million in a few weeks to buy up every last share of stock the bank was offering. In fact, demand outstripped supply.

This is great. As bank officials said, it demonstrates people's faith in the local economy. It also demonstrates that a person in the Bethel area, through hard work, imagination, and budgeting, can put aside enough money to be able to jump onto a good idea when one comes along. Buying the new Bethel Bancorp stock certainly seemed like a good idea to a lot of local folks.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

We, the host families for the Bethel Rotary Spanish Exchange would like to thank all the Rotarians for making this memorable time possible for our families. The fundraising by the club provided the basis for the program, and the many thoughtful extras provided by individual club members were really appreciated.

Past Rotary President Dave Preble and International Service Chairman Bob Saunders deserve a big thank you for their faith in the whole year-long project and for attending to the many details. Dwayne Craig has earned our heartfelt thanks for the many hours he has spent behind the wheel of the big yellow bus during the past two weeks, and his energy in organizing many activities.

The experience was wonderful—the Spanish young people, and their chaperones were delightful additions to our families. We learned a lot about Spain, even more about communication, and certainly enjoyed seeing Maine, Bethel, and our individual households through the eyes of our guests.

Bob and Dodie Greaney came up with the idea but it was the Rotary Club here and the local government in Mijas in Spain that made it happen—thank you.

To the Editor:

As Past President of the Bethel Rotary Club and chairman of the Spanish-American Youth Exchange Program, I would like to thank all those individuals, organizations, and businesses who helped make the visit of the group from Mijas, Spain, to Bethel an overwhelming success. Their generous contributions to this terrific project will be greatly appreciated by the children of Mijas for years to come. Along with many others, this list of organizations and businesses includes: SAD #44, Gould Academy, Bethel Lions Club, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, Rumford Rotary Club, Outward Bound School, Bethel Inn, Groan & McGinn, Charlie's Place, Sunday River Ski Resort, Bethel Boy Scouts, Stony Brook Recreation.

On behalf of the Bethel Rotary Club, I would also like to thank the community volunteers who have worked for months on transforming the first phase of The Spanish-American Youth Exchange from dream to reality. Furthermore, very special thanks should go to all the host families for opening up their homes for the Spanish guests for two weeks and providing them with excellent hospitality. The relationships formed and memorable experiences during the visit will undoubtedly linger happily on throughout their lives.

Now that the first phase is complete, we will begin work on the second phase, sending a delegation of our young people to Mijas during the summer of 1988. The tremendous value of bringing children of two distinct cultures together, though difficult to measure, will undoubtedly have a profound effect on their lives ahead. And as they grow into adulthood, these children should have a unique perspective

In other business at their weekly meeting, the selectmen reported that the boulder with the memorial plaques and Eagle rock are now in place in front of the municipal building. It has been suggested that a plaque with the names of Newry residents who served in Vietnam now be added to the rock.

Sylvia Wight of the Recreation Committee called and reported that volunteers are working on building playground equipment for the municipal building grounds. The Recreation Committee will meet at the town office Wednesday evening to make further plans for the playground equipment. Additional liability insurance will be added to cover the playground equipment.

Road Commissioner Marshall Fleet called and reported a large hole in the Branch Road near the Chase Hill Brook Bridge. He will repair it with sand and blast and paint the steel girders on the three bridges on the Branch Road. He will also have a large rock in Chase Hill Brook upstream from the bridge blasted and will install guardrails on the Sunday River Road.

Meeting on utilization of Androscoggin July 31

There will be a meeting of area residents and visitors interested in the Androscoggin River on Friday, July 31, at 7:30 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church on Church Street in Bethel. Anyone who has concerns for the river and/or thoughts on ways to utilize what may well be western Maine's greatest natural resource is invited to attend. For information call Steve Wight at 824-2410 or 824-2095.

SMH OFFERS EARLY PREGNANCY COURSE

The Health Education Department of Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway, is pleased to offer an all new course designed specifically for early pregnancy! This is a four week course that focuses on nutrition, exercise, fetal development, and effects of drugs, alcohol, smoking during pregnancy, as well as many other concerns of mothers-to-be.

The first course is scheduled for Mondays, Sept. 7-28, 5-7 p.m. Early registration is encouraged as courses will be offered only four times each year (once every three months), and participants must be enrolled before the fifth month of pregnancy, preferably as soon as pregnancy is detected.

This course has been designed to replace the first portion of the regular Prepared Childbirth Course, which will now be a six week course to be taken after the 23rd week of pregnancy and will focus on the Lamaze Method of labor, delivery, and the early postpartum period.

For more information, or registration, of either of the hospital's new programs, call the Health Education Department at 743-5533, Ext. 471.

tive on the ideals of world peace and understanding. And, please let it be known that the entire project was made possible by the bold ideas and expert guidance of Bob and Dodie Greaney of Andover, and winter visitors of Mijas. For them, the exchange was a dream come true. Thanks again for your support and we hope you will continue that support as we prepare for the trip to Mijas next summer.

A note from the publisher

There's a new, and excellent, guide to Maine out this week. It's the third edition of "Maine, an Explorer's Guide." The author is Christina Tree—whom many here may remember from her visit last fall. She and co-author Mimi Sleadman have done an excellent job of putting in one volume seemingly everything one would want to know about getting around in Maine. (Well, not everything. It would be nice to have just a page or two on the history and political system of the state.)

Everything from renting a boat, to getting a fishing license, to rock-hounding, to hunting up old forts, to sea-kayaking, to shipping lobsters out of state—it's all in the guide. And, of course, there's the usual information on where to ski, where to golf, where to stay and where to eat. The Bethel area is well-represented in the book, and quite thoroughly and accurately.

The book is published by The Countryman Press, in Woodstock, Vt., and costs $13.95. I don't know where you can buy them—we don't sell them here at The Citizen—but I suspect they'll start showing up in stores. The reason we received an early copy here at the office is because we provided a couple of photos for the section on western Maine.

There have been some staff changes here at the office. Cathy Hoy, whom we enjoyed working with for the past year and a half has been hired by The Advertiser. Joining us—for what we hope will be a long duration—are Kim Harris, formerly of Rumford and now of North-west Bethel, Judy McLaughlin, of West Paris, and Monica Mann, of South Woodstock.

Kim is a graphic arts person and is responsible for typesetting, paste-up, camera work and printing. Monica is also working in graphic arts, doing paste-up and camera work, and training on typesetting. Judy is responsible for taking ads over the phone and over the counter, as well as running our office supply and stationery store, under the supervision of office manager Musa Brown. (I should mention about office supplies that we will soon carry an assortment of computer printer papers. If you have any special requests, let us know.)

As our operation continues to grow, we are delighted to be able to hire more local people and train them in the interesting, and demanding, fields of publishing and printing. We paid salaries totaling $65,000 last year, plus full medical insurance coverage for our full-time employees.

Speaking of growth, we have a new inventory in the company. We felt we needed additional capital to fuel additional growth. The new van that many of you have seen with The Bethel Citizen sign on the side was the first indication of this fresh capital in the company. In coming weeks you should see more indications of growth.

Another change at The Citizen involves our typesetting capabilities. We now have the latest Macintosh desktop publishing system—a Mac SE hard disk computer. While many people and many print shops have Macintosh computers of one sort or another, what makes ours unique is that we also purchased a magic box that translates the output of the Macintosh into language that our typesetting machine understands.

What this means for our customers is that they can now get professional typesetting—instead of fuzzy-looking output from a computer printer or laser printer—of the materials they have on their Macintosh disks.

And what it means for us is that we can now design our ads and printing jobs right on the Macintosh screen and still get the sharpness of professional typesetting when we output what we composed on the screen.

We're still learning how to use this new technology, but we're all quite excited about it. I'll present some demonstrations in the paper in coming weeks.

SAD #44 board meets

Also approved for the 1987-88 school year were Timothy S. O'Connor of Bradley as industrial arts instructor at Telstar, and Rachel I. Descoteaux of Hampden as special education resource room teacher (Ethel Bisbee-Crescent Park schools, kindergarten-grades 1 and 2). Action on approval of an elementary physical education teacher was tabled until the Aug. 10 meeting of the directors.

Board goals for 1987-88 were approved by the directors as follows: that the board develop a means which will continue to improve the communication among the school board, the staff, and the greater SAD #44 school community (i.e. curriculum offerings, facilities, financial, educational statutes); to continue improving the efficiency of the school board in relation to committee meetings, executive sessions, and regular board meetings; that the board oversee the completion of the outlined K-12 curriculum review program and the student testing program by 1988; that the board reaffirm its commitment of improving academic standards beyond minimum competencies and to challenge students beyond mediocrity; to continue the district's commitment to positive student behavior as a prerequisite to a positive learning environment; that the board develop a facilities plan which will meet the present and future needs of the district.

The board approved fiscal year 1988 budgets for Chapter I and Local Entitlement. The budget for Chapter I totals $113,705.63, and Local Entitlement is $40,664.88. These are federal funds over and above the local school budget.

The directors authorized the superintendent of schools to transfer funds to cover projected shortfalls in certain budget functions.

Assessments were approved for the towns within SAD #44 for fiscal year 1988 as follows: Andover, $477,011; Bethel, $602,925; Greenwood, $262,900; Newry, $225,182; and Woodstock, $308,500.

The directors granted approval of the transfer of the deeds of the Woodstock Elementary School complex to the town of Woodstock. Formal transfer of the deeds to officials of the town of Woodstock is scheduled to take place at the open house and dedication of the new Woodstock School on Aug. 23.

Ratification was approved for an agreement between Council #93, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, and the SAD #44 Board of Directors for the period of Sept. 1, 1987 to June 30, 1988.

The AFSCME agreement covers bus drivers, custodians and school lunch workers of SAD #44. The terms of the agreement provide that the same wage scale will apply to all three categories.

The scale provides that probationary personnel (up to 60 working days) are to be receive $5.85 an hour; up to two years (following probationary period), $6.10; over two years of service, $6.25. Custodians working an evening shift will receive 10 cents additional per hour. Additions to the regular hourly rate will be paid as follows: Telstar kitchen manager, 25 cents over top regular rate; Andover kitchen manager, 20 cents over top regular rate; acting supervisor, 25 cents over regular rate; bus mechanic, 25 cents over regular rate; lead bus mechanic, 50 cents over regular rate; school bus driver, 25 cents over regular rate; maintenance worker, 25 cents over regular rate. Also the district contribution towards the cost employee health insurance or disability income plan which the district carries will be: school year employees, $775; was approximately $675; full year employees, $1,100; was $950.

Following an executive session the directors tabled, until their next meeting, action on parental appeal of a student retention at Telstar.

Three executive sessions concerning three substance abuse reports/evaluations resulted in the following: (1) tabled until the next board meeting; (2) readmittance to school under provisions of the recommendations of evaluation; (3) subject to request for re-evaluation when readmittance to school is requested.

All members of the board were in attendance at the Monday session. The Bethel board of selectmen has not yet appointed a successor to Kay Chadbourne, who recently resigned as a director.

The next regular meeting of the SAD #44 board of directors is scheduled to be held at the Andover Elementary School at 7:30 on Monday evening, Aug. 10.

ordered. In fact, the Level II and Level III investors will likely get no shares at all. It is possible, however, that the federal authorities could marginally increase the amount of stock available.

As things stand now, Mr. Delamater said, distribution of shares will be made only to the Level I investors—that is, the depositors. Since even within this level there are more requests for stock than there is stock available, a formula will be used by which a depositor's stock order will be compared with the amount of money that depositor had with the bank as of Sept. 30, 1986.

Simply stated, according to Mr. Delamater, a person with relatively a lot of money at the bank and relatively a small order for stock would be likely to receive that order. A person with relatively a small amount of money at the bank and a relatively large request for stock would be likely to receive less than the amount ordered.

Distribution of shares should begin within two weeks, Mr. Delamater said. Trading of Bethel Bancorp stock, which carries the stock symbol BTHL, should begin soon thereafter on the over-the-counter market of the New York Stock Exchange.

Regional securities houses that will be actively promoting trading in the stock will be: Gruntal Securities, Advest Securities, Moseley Securities and Tucker Anthony Securities, all of which have offices in Portland, and some of which have 800 phone numbers.

Mr. Delamater said stockholders of BTHL can expect to receive calls from stockbrokers on behalf of buyers looking for shares to purchase.

While the number of depositors who put in orders for stock was not immediately available, Mr. Delamater said his impression was that, "it seemed to be a very broad participation." He said many of the investors have told bank officials they hope to sell half their shares and hold onto the remaining half.

The bank's conversion center will remain open for a few days to answer any questions relating to the stock offer. The number is 824-3484. Those people who ordered stock and who are not given shares will get their money back, with interest, bank officials said.

town water and are planning to drill a well.

Chad Converse, the ranger of the Evans Notch District of the U.S. Forest Service (whose headquarters abuts the development), said he would like to see the developer put up a fence between the project and the Forest Service headquarters. Mr. Converse said he is worried that people from the development might come onto the headquarters property and meddle with vehicles and other equipment stored there.

Jim Putnam, of Marathon Steel, said he understood the concern but did not understand why it should be the responsibility of the developer to protect Forest Service property. He said that responsibility should lie with the Forest Service itself. Board members suggested the two abutting property owners meet privately and try to work out a compromise.

Also at the meeting was Mary Valentine, who, together with four other residents, must be off the property by Aug. 6, she said. She said Marathon sent letters to the residents of the trailer court July 6 notifying them they had 30 days to re-locate. She told the board it was difficult to re-locate within that period of time—either to find a new location for the trailer or to sell the trailer and find a house or apartment.

Board members sympathized with her problem but said it was not a matter over which the Planning Board had any jurisdiction.

In other business, board members complained of the great crush of applications coming to the board as people tried to get their projects into the permitting process before the expected passage of the town's site plan review ordinance. [A second public hearing on the draft ordinance is scheduled for tonight (Wednesday) at the West Bethel Union Church, and a special town meeting is set for Aug. 25.]

Board member Karen Brown moved that the board limit its applications under consideration to six at any one time. [Presently the board has 14 applications under consideration.] "The Planning Board cannot be expected to work on 25 plans," she said. "We're not doing the job if we continue to let the agenda get out of control like this."

New member Reggie Brown questioned the appropriateness of cutting off the applications. "It will look like we're imposing a building moratorium," he said.

After lengthy discussion, the board voted 6-0 in favor of the putting a limit of six on the number of applications it would deal with at any given time. Additional applications will be accepted at the town office but will not be placed on the Planning Board agenda until such time as the total applications before the board drops below six.

The board members also complained that they needed more administrative help. They voted to write the Board of Selectmen and ask them to provide adequate administrative assistance. The town budget currently provides for 10 hours of assistance per month. The board members said they need 10 hours per week.

Condos may co-exist

If completed to its projected 100-120 units, the development would cost about $10 million, Mr. Joly said, including the cost of the land, which may be the most expensive acreage ever purchased in this area. "I bought a location and I paid for that location dearly," he said. "I think that's the finest location for my needs. It's the entrance to Bethel."

He said he expects the buyers of the Blake Farm Condos to be people from Portland and Boston looking for second homes in a recreational area. He says being right on Rte. 26—near lakes, mountains, and the village of Bethel—will be a plus for his project.

He said the condos will be priced moderately. They will be both two-bedroom and three-bedroom, and all will have two baths. They will also have south-facing decks. The development will have its own drilled well and its own septic system. "We would hope to do a nice job," Mr. Joly said.

Although he has not yet closed on the property, he said he is interested in talking with local contractors who would like to work on the project.

Hydro company

The CMP report to the FERC states that "the costs of existing transmission alternatives, the current price of power available and the potential environmental concerns" caused the permittee [Union Water] to conclude that the project "is currently not feasible." (Union Water, and CMP, both want to continue to use the Middle Dam area as storage, however, for water used in the Androscoggin by CMP hydro-electric projects, CMP told FERC.)

Nevertheless, Swift River/Halsund engineers are continuing to look at the possibility of running a pipe downriver from Pond in the River, alongside the Rapid River, to a turbine generator.

While this plan would not capture as much water as the original plan, Swift River/Halsund officials would still like to examine it further, even though preliminary estimates place the cost at $35 million—higher than the estimated cost of the original project.

Swift River's Marc Auti admitted there were a number of problems with the Rapid River alternative, aside from the high price. "I don't know how environmentally acceptable an above-ground penstock (sluiceway) would be, since it would require clearing a lot of trees," he said.

Should this alternative also not hold promise, the company is prepared to examine other alternatives in the Richardson Lake/Rapid River area. "The onus will be on us to exercise due diligence to look into other hydro projects [in the area]," Mr. Auti said.

The permittees still have two years remaining of the permit period granted by the federal authorities for examining the feasibility of a hydro-electric project in the area.

Revaluation contract

For a time during the one-hour of discussion on the matter it appeared that the contract might not be offered. Town Manager Rodney Lynch stepped in and pointed out that other appraisal firms in the southern portion of the state were either too busy to take the job, or were more expensive, or didn't have as good a reputation as Parker. "I think the quality of the work is very good," Mr. Lynch said, based on his checking with towns that had used the firm for revaluation projects.

There are approximately 1,800 parcels of property in town, with structures on about two-thirds of them, Mr. Lynch said. The revaluation process is to take about one year, with completion set for July 1988.

The board also signed a contract with DuBois & King Inc.—the town's engineering consultants—for an updated evaluation of the town's wastewater treatment plant. The evaluation was mandated by the state Department of Environmental Protection in a three-way agreement between that agency, the town, and The Bethel Inn.

The agreement was a requisite for the DEP approving the Inn's request for a permit to build 40 condominiums, which units are to be tied-in to the Bethel sewer. The DEP first said the sewer cannot accept further tie-ins until the plant's operation and maintenance are improved. The engineering study was a compromise by the DEP to get the town started on the road to improving the plant.

The study will cost $12,300, which cost will be borne by The Bethel Inn—again, as part of the three-way agreement with the town and the DEP.

In other business, the selectmen approved an addition to the draft site plan review ordinance. The suggested new clause would grant holders of existing building permits for projects that would fall under the purview of the new ordinance two years to have their building projects 75 percent completed. The thinking is that there may be a rush of building permit applications in the final weeks before the expected approval of the draft ordinance by people wanting to side-step the effect of the ordinance. The vote for the addition to the draft was 4-1, with Selectman Peter Haines objecting that two years was too long. He favored an 18-month limit on the effectivity of a current building permit. The suggested addition to the draft ordinance will be forwarded to the Planning Board.

The selectmen will call a public hearing on recommended changes to the sewer regulations. The changes desired by the selectmen would require a permit fee of $250 for sewer users who make substantial enlargements of their property. A substantial enlargement is defined as expansion of 1,000 square feet or 20 percent of the existing building floor area, whichever is less.

In response to a request from the Oxford County Commissioners, the board has offered to provide ambulance service to Albany and Mason townships for the remainder of 1987 for $840. (The county had contracted with Stoneham Rescue for service in Albany, but that outfit has said it wants to discontinue its service.) The board voted to accept $13,000 from the state Department of Transportation

REV. BRENDON BASS OBSERVES a Nicaraguan villager demonstrate how he would defend his village against Contra attack. Rev. Bass was part of a Witness for Peace group that spent 2½ weeks in Central America, including a few days in an agricultural co-operative called Patio Grande, situated in the area prone to Contra attack, where the above photo was taken.

"witnesses" the guard had to familiarize itself with any area in the world where it might be called upon to fight. [Former Gov. Joseph Brennan had forbidden the Maine National Guard to train in Central America, but under Gov. John McKernan a Maine National Guard unit is being sent to the area.]

The colonel also said, the visitors reported, that Honduras was a good place to train the Guard since there were no civil works projects to do in the U.S. [Members of the Maine National Guard built a new runway at Bethel's Col. Dyke Field this summer.]

In Nicaragua, aside from a couple of days in Managua talking with Sandinista and opposition political leaders, the group spent most of their time in the countryside, including five days in the war zone of northwest Nicaragua.

In an agricultural cooperative that had been attacked by Contra forces this past April, the group had an impromptu volleyball game over a net suspended on one side from the remains of the co-op's for local assistance on state roads.

The board voted to close Mason Street to vehicular traffic between Broad Street and the carriage houses on Saturday, Aug. 8—Sudbury Canada Day, from 6 to 9 p.m. The board also approved using the fire station for children's games on that day.

truck, which had been demolished in the attack.

Mrs. Graham and Rev. Bass said the typical Contra attack tries to destroy schools, trucks, public works, and tries to kill school teachers, health care workers and local officials. "They [the Contras] don't have a following among the people," Rev. Bass said, "and they're not going to get one with their hit-and-run tactics."

Mrs. Graham commented: "We're told by our government how well the Contra are doing, but clearly that's not the case."

Nevertheless, both "witnesses" said the attacks—and the constant fear of attack—are causing the Nicaraguan government to divert resources from health, education and civil works to defense. They said the same thing is happening in Honduras, where, under U.S. prodding, the government is also pushing a military build-up as a larger Central American war is anticipated.

Mrs. Graham said the Nicaraguan villages look like places under siege, with rifles and trenches everywhere. Even the "witnesses" were offered rifles, but they declined. She concluded that the Sandinista government must feel very secure if they give rifles to all the villagers.

She was also very impressed that the Sandinista government was willing to grant amnesty to any Contra who surrendered. "That shocked me," she said.

By VIVA WHITMAN

Still haven't seen too much sunny weather nor the rain really needs. How nice it would be if it would do one or the other instead of staying damp and humid. Guess I'm getting fussy in my old age, but the humid damp weather bothers my troubles so I complain about it like others would.

Well, had to go to North Bridgton to see the doctor, again as I have staph infection as last winter. Don't know what causes it but it sure seems to like me all too well. On the way back, went to Ames to get a few needed items and also at Farmer's Union. Peggy was ambitious and washed her car and made it shine. Wish some of that energy would wash off of me but it doesn't seem to.

Cut out a few clothing items on Saturday but didn't get them sewed up. They will be ready when I am and that will be a help. Russell weeded in the garden some and as it was hot, worked part of the day on a carpenter project he has going. Peggy went to Bethel in the afternoon to Mollycoddett Day. She said she saw lots of friends and enjoyed the afternoon. Took Grace along with her as I didn't feel as though my legs would stand all the walking there is to do. I love to see such things but it is hard on legs that don't work right. In the evening, Peggy went dancing with some friends. She sure loves to dance.

Sunday was a fun day for all of us. Wynona came to take me to visit a friend. I have been wanting to see in Hollis Center and Peggy took Russell and Grace for a picnic and to visit her granddaughter and family in Jay. Wynona and girls brought a picnic lunch and I took things that I could have so we stopped by a bridge in Hollis Center and had a picnic lunch. The spot we picked, overlooked the river and it was a nice grassy area so the girls could run for a little after they had eaten their lunch. They enjoyed that.

Lawrence had gone deep sea fishing with Laura and Bernard Hutchins of East Andover. Misty Yates went along also. They brought home some fish and Laura have us a small one to stuff and bake. It certainly was delicious. I would love to go deep sea fishing but know I haven't the strength to pull in the fish. I used to love to go brook fishing as a child and went with Bryce a lot. Black Brook saw us fishing up and down it a lot back in the good old days.

Monday was a busy day and as I didn't get much sleep Sunday night, I got real tired. I had to take my car to the garage for some repairs and had hoped to get my sticker but find I have to have some work done first. Always something to keep one wondering what will be next. After lunch, Russell started picking peas as the vines don't look good at all. Some disase has struck them so he decided to pick all he could. Peggy joined him while I worked inside. As soon as they got a pail full, I started shelling them getting them ready to freeze. Barbara Yates stopped in as we were working and joined me in shelling peas. We had a nice visit while working and hope she enjoyed the taste of new peas we have her to take home. Shelled them and got 21 pints to put in the freezer to help out this winter. Always glad to get all we can in the freezer.

Got done in time to take a short rest before supper and then after supper, we got ready and went to Grange in Bryant Pond. Peggy was lecturer for the evening and I had something for her program as did many others. We had a good program.

Courtney had stayed up with me from Sunday and went to Grange with us. She has always been good to take to Grange and seems to enjoy going. Had to get up early Tuesday morning to go to North Bridgton again for back treatment so had to wake Courtney up as she was so tired. Had a hard time to keep going, myself. Russell took his truck to town to get a sticker and found he has to have some work done to get it. Guess we should have gotten our cars to the garage sooner. We will hope to get them fixed soon.

Tuesday evening, Peggy, Russell, Courtney and I went to Norway Art Center to see Gil Whitman's exhibit. It was wonderful to see what artistic work he does and to see Gil and Liz again. I haven't seen them for years. Went to school with Liz and went to her home many times. It was good to see her mother, also. Always makes me happy to see old and dear friends like they are. The exhibit was wonderful to see. Even Courtney enjoyed the evening. I had never seen any of his work only what is in his yard so was glad of the chance to see his art work. Courtney liked the figure of the little girl that he had on display. She rubbed the arms and patted the head as though it was real or ought to be. Suffice it to say, we all enjoyed the time we spent there.

Decided to do a wash Wednesday even if the weather didn't look promising. I needed some clothes and took some to town to dry them but hung some on the line. I figured they would dry sometime and they dried faster than I had hoped. I watered my plants Wednesday morning and counted them as I didn't know how many I had. I have over a hundred in all. Some aloe plants, some spider plants and lots of African violets. I lose one once in a while but try to keep more coming all the time so have quite a bunch now. At least 26 different plants to start new plants from.

Got my suitcase packed to go to Wynona's for a couple of days. The girls are always happy to have Nana come to visit so am going since they have been up with me. Guess it is the fair way to do it.

Russell's lilies are in bloom now; tiger lilies I mean. He has several different colors and they are pretty. Also the begonias in the window box are lovely in color. They brighten the side of the addition a lot. We both love flowers so have quite a lot this year. Hope they all do well.

Things are looking good for that variety show I have mentioned. We had a rehearsal of sorts and had fun doing it. With all the different things being featured, I am sure it will be enjoyed by all so keep the 13th of August free to come to it in Bryant Pond at the Grange Hall. You won't regret it!!!

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, Aug. 6, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 7:30 p.m. The featured speaker for the evening will be Norman Buttrick of Freeport and Bog Road, Gilead, who will make a slide presentation on Maine archaeological sites. Buttrick, a Gould Academy graduate with degrees from the University of Southern Maine and the University of Maine, is a teacher at Freeport High School. He has also extensive experience in historical archaeology. In 1986 he served as co-director with Dr. Robert L. Bradley of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission of the Northern Casco Bay Archaeological Survey which focused on 17th century Anglo-American sites. Previous to this he worked on sites in Edgecomb, on the Lower Kennebec, in Freeport, York, Bristol, Castine, Boothbay and Livermore. He is the author of several unpublished reports and papers relating to historic archaeology and has lectured frequently on the subject. Anyone wishing to attend this meeting is cordially invited to do so.

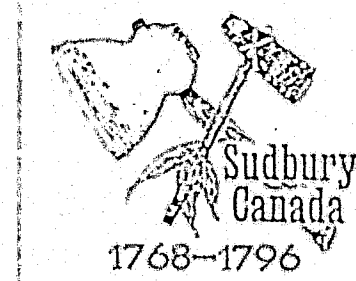

Society Director Stanley R. Howe attended his first meeting of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission of which he is the historian member. The meeting was held in Houlton and a large number of sites were approved for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places. A copy of the latest Maine Historic Preservation Commission supported publication was presented to each member of the commission: Alaric and Gretchen Faulkner's The French at Penikese 1635-1674: An Archaeological Portrait of the Acadian Frontier.

Among recent donations to the society are various town reports for the towns of Carthage and Norway from society member Ben B. Conant of South Paris. Mr. Conant has also generously contributed several photographs of logging scenes in western Maine.

The summer meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies was held on Saturday in Fryeburg. League president Stanley R. Howe reported on the essay contest on the constitution which attracted participants from throughout Oxford County. He also reported that he expected the incorporation papers for the league should be coming soon and that Virginia Smith of Buckfield has presented the league with a gavel by the president at league meetings. There were several announcements from member organizations. The next meeting of the league is scheduled for Sept. 12 in Hartford at the J.O. Irish Store at 2 p.m. Following the business meeting those attending had an opportunity to visit the exhibit of Fryeburg scenes by Fryeburg artists on display in the new Fryeburg Historical Society museum building, built in 1820, which was once the Registrar of Deeds building.

Planning is nearly complete for the 8th annual Sudbury Canada Days sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society and held each year on the grounds of and in the Dr. Moses Mason House. SEARCH FOR TUELL DESCENDANTS

A search is underway for the descendants of John and Lydia (Makepeace) Tuell who settled in Paris, Maine, about 1787, so they may receive details of a get-together Aug. 29 in West Sumner. A full day's activities are planned.

John and Lydia's children were: John, Jr., married in 1796 to Rebecca Doty, with whom he walked to Washington County where they settled; Lydia, who married Jacob Gurney and moved to Hebron; Ebenezer, whose first wife was Patty Perham and second wife Rebecca Curtis; Charity, the second wife of David Dudley; Abiathar, who first married Charlotte Holmes and second Phoebe Knapp; Abigail, wife of Noah Curtis, Jr.; an early settler of West Sumner, whose wives were, first Polly Benson and second, Sarah Young; and Polly, who married Francis Keen and moved to Sumner.

The committee especially wants to hear from as many as possible of the daughters' descendants. They have been able to document most of the sons' descendants, but will be grateful to hear from any others they may have missed.

They want to emphasize it is not necessary to have the name Tuell to be eligible. In fact, there are very few direct-line male descendants now living, particularly in Maine. The largest con-

30th ANNUAL TURKEY BUFFET AT EAST STONEHAM AUG. 13

The 30th annual turkey buffet supper will be held at the East Stoneham Church Vestry on Thursday, Aug. 13, from 5-7 p.m.

These suppers were started in 1957 at the former schoolhouse by local people and summer friends for the purpose of providing funds for the new school and cafeteria. After two years this was accomplished and the activities were moved to the church vestry.

Many of the original friends are now deceased. Three of the summer friends living are John Fetter, Bill Hudson, and Mae Whistler. Each year a group of local people carry on these suppers to benefit the church. The menu includes roast turkey, plain and giblet gravy, potato chips, pickles, cucumbers and tomatoes, cranberry jello, hot rolls, tea, coffee, and cold drinks.

Many thanks and sincere gratitude is due to the loyal workers who each year have made this event both a social and financial success.

S.M.H. OFFERS CPR COURSE

The Health Education Department at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway, is offering a CPR Course on Aug. 11 and 12, from 5-9 p.m. This eight hour course is designed for persons working in the health-care field.

Timing is critical. Upon reaching a victim of arrested breathing or cardiac arrest, immediate action is a must! Being trained in Basic Life Support will prepare you to save a life.

This course includes Adult, Child or Infant CPR, Obstructed Airway, Two Rescuer CPR, and other skills for health-care providers. It is instructed using the latest Standards and Guidelines for Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation and Emergency Cardiac Care.

The fee for this course is $25 and pre-registration is required. For more information or registration, call the Health Education Department at 743-5933, Ext. 471 or 472.

centration, by far, is in the state of Washington.

If enough interest is shown, a Tuell genealogy will be published in the near future. Details of this and the get-together may be obtained from Mrs. Isabel T. Coburn, Route 2, Box 146, New Harbor, Maine 04554; phone 877-2096.

Seven new programs underway at NTL

The latest group of participants and staff for the NTL Institute summer sessions arrived in Bethel last weekend for seven new programs that started on Monday and Tuesday. One program is continuing into its second week, and the new series of offerings covers a wide range of interests, from Strategic Management and Organization Development, to the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator program, to a personal growth program called Holding On and Letting Go.

These programs have brought the largest group of NTL people to Bethel so far this year, with a total count of approximately 210. More than two dozen of the participants are from overseas countries, many of them attending the special international program currently in progress.

A new series of Sunrise Seminars has also started, with presentations already having been made by Otto Kroeger with Janet Thueson, and by Eva Schindler-Rainman. These informal sessions are presented in the Maine Room at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday through Saturday mornings, usually by staff members, who are a new group each week. They are open to all interested persons.

For the remainder of the week, the Sunrise Seminars will cover the following topics: Thursday, July 30, Edie and Kim Seashore on "Music and Awareness"; Friday, July 31, a presentation by the participants in the International Lab on "What You Always Wanted to Know About International Resource Development But Never Had the Opportunity to Ask"; and Saturday, Aug. 1, another topic to be announced. Those who are interested may phone the NTL Office after Wednesday to learn the topic for Saturday.

Bethel area residents are reminded of the opportunity to attend many of the NTL summer programs at a special reduced fee for "standby" status. For details, please phone 824-2151, or stop in at the NTL Office in Bingham Gym on the Gould Academy campus.

This is your Chamber of Commerce

Each week, this column will spotlight a different member of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. The purpose is to give some understanding about the various fields of endeavor of the Chamber members.

Charlie's Place has become one of the most vital businesses on Main Street. Established in 1973 under the ownership of Charlie Farrar, the luncheon and light supper place with game room has long been a favorite of teenagers. Its present owner, Edleen Winslow began work at Charlie's in 1974 and subsequently bought the business in 1980. In 1984 Edleen purchased a building across the street formerly owned by Ernest Angevine. The building underwent a total facelift and interior remodeling this past spring which significantly improved the look of Bethel's Main Street.

Edleen employs six people, three of whom are her children. Bruce, her oldest, works in the evenings after putting in a full day at Western Maine Supply. Her daughter, Sue, is working this summer between her first and second year at college along with Scott, a senior in high school. Wendy and Shelley Rice are also part time employees and Ruth Kittredge has long been a familiar face at Charlie's Place where she has worked for nearly 10 years.

During the last seven years of ownership, Edleen has expanded the menu with a goal of trying to mingle the arcade which attracts the teenagers, and provide a good food service that adults will enjoy as well. It would seem that she has been successful as Charlie's Place is a popular luncheon place for all ages which also does a brick evening business, large serving pizza.

Edleen is committed to providing a wholesome, alcohol free environment for the community's young people. This concern has also been evident on Edleen's outside activities. She is an active member of the Community Alcohol and Drug Education Team and she has been a leader for the past four years in the alcohol free Project Graduation activity. Edleen is also very interested in Eastern Star and is a member of Women in Business as well as the Chamber of Commerce in which she has been involved for the last five years.

Edleen looks forward to the future with excitement. She plans on continuing to develop the character of the building as well as to increase the menu she offers.

Andover

East
Andover

By MARJORIE JODREY

Former Andover resident Stephen Hall of Bethel, Conn., won the Connecticut Hearts Championship which was held in Bethel, Conn., on July 11 and 12. Keith Farrington, a former East Andover resident also competed.

Sympathy is extended to Carol Stuart in the loss of her father.

On Monday night, the Andover Farm Baseball Team was again victorious over the Bethel Blues Farm Team. What a wonderful season they have had this year. Now they are in the play-offs. Good luck and best wishes to a team that didn't win a game last year.

Mrs. Ruth Sidelinger called into the program "Nashville Now" for the second time in three weeks. She answered a trivia question, "What was Stonewall Jackson's given name?" She won a "Nashville Now" belt buckle. She talked with the Gezenslaw Brothers this time. The first time she talked with Lulu Roman.

Mrs. Karen Dolloff and daughters, Tracey, Roxie, and Brandi, of Standish, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Swasey, and spent some time at their camp on Umbagog Lake.

Mrs. Ruth Sidelinger wishes to let her old Avon customers know and new ones, too, that she is again one of the Avon salespersons in town. She will be happy to see all her old customers.

Rev. Mariotte Churchill's sermon topic on July 19 at the First Congregational Church was "I Hear You Saying." Hymn of devotion was "Lord Jesus Think on Me." Hymn of dedication was "How Great Thou Art." Greeters were George and Elaine Byam and Valerie. Those remembered in prayers were Rose Dugay and Violet Swain.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emerson, Upton Road, are receiving congratulations on the birth of their third child, a son, born July 22 at the Rumford Community Hospital. He weighed in at eight pounds and has been named Frank Montgomery. Sharing honors as grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Emerson Sr. of Andover, and Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Merryman of Sun City, Ariz. He was greeted home on July 23 by twin brothers, Fred and David, aged eight.

Mrs. Betty Jean Davis worked for Mrs. Lorena Sunnims in the East Andover post office on Thursday. Lorena was taken ill Wednesday night but is feeling fine now.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Clement have moved into the Larry White house on lower Main Street.

Don't forget the parade and all the other activities going on Saturday, Aug. 1, at "Old Home Day." Come and visit with old friends and make new ones. There is something for everyone.

The Colt League baseball team of Andover lost the last game of the season against Bethel Colt League on Wednesday night, July 22.

West Bethel

By HARRIETT STOWELL

Davene Mitchell and grandson, Johnny Francisco, of Jacksonville, Fla., arrived at the home of her mother, Maxine Lovejoy, on Tuesday for a 10 day visit. Dwayne Murphy of Tullahoma, Tenn. has also been a guest of his grandmother Maxine Lovejoy, recently.

Don Varney, of Winthrop, was in town one day last week, and called on several old friends.

Guests for the past week of the Dick Hostermans were their daughter, Sue Anne and grandson Peter, of Scituate, Mass.

Gloria Hopkins, a former West Bethel resident now of St. Augustine, Fla., called on George and Harriett Stowell last Friday. The Hopkinses have been spending a few weeks vacation at Songo Pond.

Craig Boyd and family of Brewer, spent Mollycockett weekend with his mother, Colleen Boyd.

Bert and Marion Griffith of Eustis, Fla., were in town last weekend, called here by the death of "Cy" Cole.

On Thursday, July 23, the Andover Farm Baseball Team won the championship game over undefeated West Paris. Congratulations to the team and their coach, Betty Miseroch. It was rather a disappointment to the children they didn't receive a trophy or at least a ribbon to show that the league recognized their efforts. That's OK, the parents and grandparents are very proud of the members of the team who are: Peter Miseroch, Eric Milligan, Sadie Gallant, Kurt Thurston, K.C. Emerson, John Snowman, Justin Hutchins, Wesley Richardson, Sean Hawkes, David Jacques, Keith Smith, Fletcher Wyman, Augusta Yates, Brian Spaulding, Ben Bartlett, Kara Bartlett, and Mary Jean Learned and their pitcher, David Hawkes. This team has always been good losers, it's time they came out on the winning side.

Miss Robin Palmer returned home on Thursday after visiting a week with Jocelyn Hilton in Kittery.

Mrs. Joanne Palmer went to Kittery on Sunday to visit her aunt, Edna Hilton. She took her mother, Mrs. Ismay Mechem, Barbie Warner, to Gorham, Maine, to visit a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Richard White and son, Shawn. They all returned home on Thursday.

Mrs. Madeline Abbott Wentzell, who previously resided in Andover, and 60 other friends and relatives enjoyed a July 4 gathering at her family home in Rumford. Mrs. Wentzell would welcome notes or visits at the Sarah Frye Home, 751 Washington Ave., Auburn, Maine 04210, just two miles from exit 12 of the Maine Turnpike, on Route 202.

EXHIBITION OF PHOTOGRAPHS AT MATOLSCY ART CENTER

An invitational exhibition of nearly 50 photographs by Penny Kurtz of Paris Hill will be shown at the Lajos Matolscy Art Center, Main St., Norway. The show opens Tuesday, Aug. 4, with a public reception from 6 to 8 p.m. The exhibition will continue through Saturday, Aug. 15. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Ms. Kurtz majored in the History of Art at Skidmore College. Following graduation she traveled in Mexico where her interest in photography originated. Not a professional photographer, she has however presented slide shows in this area and her photographs have been exhibited locally.

Her camera travels with her wherever she goes and whatever the season. Ms. Kurtz' subjects are varied and include the natural world, architectural forms and personalities.

All pictures in this exhibition have been matted and framed at Foley Frame Shop, Oxford. Betty Foley and Penny Kurtz share the same exacting visual standards in their respective fields.

Ms. Kurtz has been a summer resident of Paris Hill since early childhood. She and her family have resided there for 12 years. She is married to attorney Ted Kurtz and is the mother of four grown children.

Gilead

By LOUISE LORING

In Memoriam to "Cy" Cole
Gilead has lost a patriot, a man of honor, but most of all, a stalwart friend. To the end he was heroic, and amidst all of his suffering, was eager to learn the news of the day, and inquired of his caretakers just how their day had gone.

He was interested in young people—knowing in his wise ways, that they are the building blocks of tomorrow and are the strong foundation for all our tomorrows. He encouraged them to use their talents, and diligently pursue their inner-most secret ambitions.

He loved nature, and the beauty of his home called "Wildwood" attested to this inherent aspect of his nature. He lured hummingbirds to his feeders and marvelled at moose who waded the river.

He savored good food and his sharp wit and sense of humor, injected generously into all his conversations, were gems to be dearly treasured, and most fondly recalled by all those who knew and loved him. He acknowledged his maker and walked with him daily in far off gardens.

Although he is gone in body—he remains with us in spirit, and the reverberations of his being will eternally resound within the "Echoes of Wild River."

To sum it all up as Shakespeare wrote ages ago—
His life was gentle, and the elements
So mixed in him, that nature might stand up
And say to all the world—"Here was a Man!"

Tri-Town Rescue

Saturday, Aug. 1, is the date for Tri-Town's first annual "Pancake Breakfast." This will be held at our Trap Corner barn on that day from 7 to 11 a.m. The menu will be pancakes, bacon, sausage, eggs, home fries, toast, coffee and juice. The cost will depend on what you choose to eat.

Jane Chandler is heading up our annual Community Calendar Sale this year. If you have seen these calendars, you'll know how neat they are. If you haven't, contact one of the Tri-Town members near you and ask about the calendars. Any Tri-Town member will be glad to help you with your calendar order, or call Jane Chandler at 674-2963.

Part of our training in July was devoted to personal safety of our ambulance attendants and EMTs. We have come to realize that we need to protect ourselves, as well as our patients, so if you see one of our attendants outting on rubber gloves, or a face mask, don't be alarmed; we're just trying to protect ourselves so that we can better serve you.

We again passed out Medical Information/Life Capsules with our annual Newsletter this year. If you were missed with this, this is the information that we have on the sheets: name and address; age and date of birth; physician; next of kin; medications; allergies to medication; and insurance information.

If you don't have one of these papers, listing the information on a plain piece of paper will be a big help to everyone in an emergency. If you'd like a copy of our page, and a vital with stickers, call Ruth Scribner in Summer at 388-2511; Anita Hakala in Greenwood at 527-2234; in Woodstock, Doreen Benson at 674-2346; in West Paris, Mary Emery at 674-2886. These people, or most any Tri-Town member will help you with this project.

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

The following information comes from Ruby Emery—

"Ezra Jewell was our (Bryant Pond Village's) first postmaster in the store that he built, later owned by Carl Dudley. The office has also been in the railway station, Crawford's shoemaker's shop, C.P. Knight's store or the Kenneth McInnis Store, the well-known corner house, the Opera House, Crockett's or Pray & Merrill store that burned in 1877, the now Kennelton Farmhouse, William Lapham's post office, or Harry Crockett house, the old telephone office by Dudley's store, and the Nicholas Knott's shop."

Eva B. Twitchell has donated a relief map of the area. Ruby Emery has donated a chamber pot. Kathleen Bean has added a World War I shell. And Lloyd Davis has presented the society with an ice saw.

The booklet Woodstock Miscellany by Larry Billings is now available at the museum. It includes prose and poetry on Woodstock and costs a modest $2. Pick up a copy soon.

The 30th wedding anniversary for Leon Poland Jr. and wife, Rosalie, was held at the Gold Street Restaurant, South Paris, July 18. Their three children, Leland Bertram, and Lloyd and Larry Poland were instigators of the party. Many relatives and friends attended the 7:30 lunch served in the banquet room. Lloyd, Larry and Leland paid tribute to their parents. A program of violin music was played by Natasha Poland and Alexander Poland played a solo on the cello. Pictures of Leon and Rosalie's life over the years were shown on the screen for all to see. The wedding cake was cut by the couple in the traditional way and served. By COLISTA MORGAN

The winds have ceased to whistle round the hills and the waves on the pond have died down.

The clouds seem to float together on the still waters. I watched the blue heron standing in awesome beauty, across these waters, as I worked outside.

There was a warmth in the sun and the exquisite notes of a purple finch's song floating like a pale thread through the stillness.

Brooks that were singing a loud song a short time ago, now talk softly to the bigger waters.

A pair of robins on my lawn were digging for their meat rations and occasionally gave me a stealthy glance.

Frying into the heart of a rose the ruby-throated humming bird was busy. The world at this hour was drugged with silence.

I thought I could almost hear time, as if it flew by, overhead on rustling wings, dropping me away into the years.

The heat descended like a bond that sealed the valley for the sun came up blazing over the hills and poured its rays down unrelentingly. By noon the combination of stifled air and blazing sunshine held everything in a solid grip.

Walking or working that day was as if I were enclosed in a sheath of invisible fire and the stones burned at my feet. This kind of day seemed better than the many cloudy, rainy, and foggy days of last week. Those were gray, mean days, when everyone was complaining.

But a day, sunny and bright like this one in Maine is a singing silence. I kept busy part of the time outside doing lawns so long neglected, and did a bit of weeding.

So the day passed where leaves shimmered in sunlight and have tender shade. The play of sunset colors changed moment by moment over the pond. The calm of evening had begun to reach out and take possession of all the waters until the last of the sun was gone, dropping behind the mountains into a crimson abyss; leaving in the distance mammoth evergreens in a forest frame.

Ann Holt returned home on Sunday after finishing her course of study in Portland.

David, Sally and Mary Holt were at Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt's on Sunday. Many stayed there over the weekend.

Dorothy Curtis had several callers this week; Evelyn Heikkinen, Mexico; Waldo and Audra Porter, West Peru; Jim and Wanda Brown, Mass.; Mildred Bowman and Gail Littlefield, Hebron; Irene Stevens, Eva Felton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis, Local.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis gave their mother a birthday party on Sunday. There were 30 present including her sister, Ruth Collins, and brother, Gerald Wyman and wife Jo, of Brunswick. My callers were: Ann and Mary Holt and Ernest Mundi.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Bill Wood said my wording of his cemetery lot transaction was inaccurate. He spoke of writing a letter to the editor to correct same.

It is said it takes all kinds of people to make up the world. In Upton we have as many kinds as we do people and I like them all but consider each fits under the same title, "The good, the bad, and the funny."

Midge Clark arrived Saturday a.m. before the alarm went off. She and her husband had driven all night from Branford, Conn., and had forgotten the key to their camp. They called Larry Lavallee who had a key.

The Berniers joined several others at Silphen's Farm in Bolster's Mills for a very interesting forum on grafting trees. We stopped on the way back to visit Carol Greenleaf and the Dennis Dulleas of North Norway.

Laurie Bergeron took Joseph, and Jerry and Danielle Bernier of Locke Mills to the Maine Guides game at Old Orchard Saturday.
